

Business as usual pledge at brewery after burglary

BREAK-IN WON'T DAMPEN SPIRITS

Report by Judith Hawkins

A BREWERY targeted by callous burglars, who took recipes and even a university dissertation, are refusing to let it get their spirits down.

The Stourbridge micro-brewery the Green Duck Beer Company, had two laptops stolen in the break-in, as well as £100 in takings, and its office damaged.

Stored on one of the laptops belonging to the head brewer were important recipes for the brewery's five cask ales, while on the other was a barmaid's university dissertation.

As it was still due and not saved elsewhere, she now has to start again from scratch, and can't get an extension.

Head brewer Alex Hill said: "The worst thing is that to them those laptops aren't worth that much – they aren't going to get that much money from them, but to us they had important and personal things saved on them. But they obviously don't think about things like that."

The 10 employees at the independent business on Rufford Road are now focusing their attention on new projects following the Friday morning break-in – and say they are very much 'back to business as usual'.

Nuisance

"Fortunately I had other copies of the recipes, although I did have some ideas on there for new ones," said Alex. "But we're not letting it get us down and we've just opened a new gin bar. It serves 40 different gins and is opened on Fridays and Saturday nights."

Sales director Nathan Kiszka added: "It's back to business as usual. We have already done all the repairs. It has been a nuisance, but we're not going to let this get us down."

The brewery confirmed it had handed some on-site CCTV to police to aid with their investigation into the burglary, and have also upgraded their security so that there is now CCTV in the room that was targeted.

The raid took place at about 5am, on the eve of the Gainsborough Trading Estate brewery's beer festival. The brewery makes its own five cask ales – Duck & Dive, Duck & Cover, Duck Blonde, Duck Under and Duck Dastardly. It also runs a monthly guest beer.

The business brews five beers on the site, which also includes a real ale and keg bar. It is open on Fridays from 4-10pm and on Saturdays from 1-7pm.

JORDANNE'S RED CARPET TREATMENT AT PREMIERE

Halesowen wheelchair tennis ace Jordan Whiley on the film premiere red carpet with fellow sportsman Marc McCarroll

WHEELCHAIR tennis star Jordanne Whiley had a front row seat at a film premiere – and got up close to Hollywood A-lister Tom Cruise.

The 24-year-old Paralympian, from Hale-sowen, who won a bronze medal in the wheelchair tennis doubles in Rio, was at the red carpet screening of Cruise's new film Jack Reacher: Never Go Back.

Jordanne tweeted her excitement and a number of snaps from the event, including a close-up of the cast which also includes Canadian actress Cobie Smulders. Among her posts on the social network, Jordanne wrote:

"Red carpet! #JackReacher2" accompanied by a photo of herself outside the cinema in Leicester Square.

She also tweeted afterwards: "Lovely evening yesterday at the jack reacher premiere!" and then posted a picture of cast members including action star Cruise.

Jordanne described the venue as 'the biggest cinema I've ever seen' and attended alongside fellow wheelchair tennis ace Marc

McCarroll. The tennis star has been honoured twice in recent weeks.

Firstly, she received an honorary degree from the University of Wolverhampton and was then named a freewoman of Dudley borough.

It has also been confirmed she will do the honour of switching on her home town's Christmas lights this year.

The three-time Wimbledon champion will turn on the festive lights in Halesowen on November 19.

OPERATION Park searched in knives crackdown

POLICE hunted for knives in a Black Country park following a series of stabbings over the last fortnight.

Officers were out in Priory Park in Dudley checking hedges, undergrowth and other potential hideaways for signs of weapons.
It comes on the back of three stabbings in the space of eight days in Dudley borough and follows similar investigations at parks across the Black Country and Birmingham.

Sergeant Adam Austin, who was leading the search in Priory Park, said: "We have been making sweeps of public spaces looking for weapons which may have been stored anywhere."

The crackdown on knife crime also saw officers visit the Merry Hill shopping centre, where a 16-year-old boy was able to buy seven knives.

BUILDING

Hopes on deal to run Hippodrome

CAMPAIGNERS are hopeful a deal to allow them to take over Dudley Hippodrome will be completed next month.

The Black Country Hippodrome group is waiting to be given the keys to the famous building.

The process has been held up slightly by legal discussions, with paperwork needing to be finalised between the group and Dudley Council.

Members will be handed a five-year lease to allow them to refurbish the derelict former theatre on Castle Hill after a last-ditch bid to take over the Hippodrome saved it from the bulldozers.

Gordon Downing, from the group, said he was hopeful the agreement would be finalised by the 'second or third week' of November.

MP calls for amnesty after stabbings

A DULEY has pledged to raise in Parliament the issue of knife crime in the Black Country. It comes after a teenager was knifed in the fifth stabbing in just two weeks across the region.

Police are investigating after an 18-year-old was stabbed in Pleck, Walsall at around 8pm on Saturday.

He is believed to have been approached by a group of men in Wednesbury Road and then followed into Ford Street where the assault is thought to have taken place.

MP for Dudley South, Mike Wood, has been so shocked at the recent stabbings spate that he is tabling a question on the issue for the Home Office, and calling for a knife amnesty. The Conservative MP said: "I am currently tabling a question to the Home Office, to highlight the rise in stabbings to police ministers.

"The sentencing on stabbings is clear, but what we need to do is to remind people that if you carry a knife then you are looking at prison.

"I'm calling for a knife amnesty to try and reduce the number of these weapons which are on the streets as much as we can.

"I am also writing to the Police and Crime Commissioner encouraging the amnesty."

Mr Wood said he would also try to put the question of an amnesty before Theresa May at Prime Minister's Questions.

He confirmed his constituents had expressed fears to him over the rise in knife attacks and fatalities in the area.

"These are particularly concerning for local people," said Mr Wood. "Whilst it does appear in most of the cases the victims and the attackers are known to each other, it is not always the case, and people are understandably growing increasingly worried about their safety."

West Midlands Police are appealing for information about the latest stabbing in Pleck on Saturday. Det Sgt Adam Keen, said: "We are in the early stages of our investigation and I am urging anyone who witnessed this to come forward."

Anyone with any information is urged to call West Midlands Police on 101.

Mother: We must get tough on knife crime

THE mother of murder victim Tom Kirwan has called for tougher sentences for knife crime after new figures showed a dramatic rise in the number of incidents involving blades across the West Midlands.

The latest figures from the Office for National Statistics (ONS) show that 37 out of 44 police forces in England and Wales recorded a rise in offences involving knives and sharp instruments in the year to June.

While knife crime rose by nine per cent nationally, with nearly one in five of the extra offences taking place in the West Midlands.

Emer Kirwan, whose son Tom was stabbed to death outside the former Uberra Club in Wolverhampton in July 2012, said it was 'heartbreaking' to see the high levels of knife crime in the region. Her son's killer has never been found.

Distressing

"A lot of people think they can carry a weapon around and not get prosecuted," she said. "There should be stiffer sentences for anyone who is found carrying a knife."

"How any normal person can go around carrying a knife and use it on another person is beyond me. Something has got to be done because the problem is clearly getting worse."

In the last month alone there have been three stabbings in the space of eight days in Dudley borough. Mansoor Mahmood, 24, died after he was stabbed in the stomach in Brierley Hill, a 22-year-old man was stabbed in Lower Gornal and an 18-year-old critically injured in a stabbing in Sedgley.

There was also a stabbing on a bus in West Bromwich, which led to a 16-year-old boy requiring hospital treatment, while in September 23-year-old Mircea Gheorghe Cozmiuc was knifed to death in Whitmore Reans, Wolverhampton. All of the incidents took place after the ONS figures were compiled, sparking fears that knife crime across the region could be getting worse.

Murder victim Tom Kirwan

Schoolgirl Christina Edkins

The force has waged a long-running battle to rid the streets of violent crime, with the region having seen a number of high profile stabbings. They include Halesowen schoolgirl Christina Edkins, who was fatally stabbed in the chest by Phillip Simelane, of Walsall, while travelling to school on the No.9 bus along Hagley Road, in Edgbaston, on March 7, 2013.

Mircea Gheorghe Cozmiuc

Herman 'Louis' Simpson

Her great uncle Chris Melia, said: "It is distressing to see that more and more people are going through the same distressing experience as ours. It seems there is still not enough resources being put into stopping knife crime."

Earlier this year Darren Parker, who was 43, was killed after being knifed in West Bromwich, while in October 2015 Herman 'Louis' Simpson, 46, was stabbed to death in his home Wolverhampton.

Wolverhampton South East MP Pat McFadden, said: "I think these figures will strike fear into the heart of every parent. Whenever there is a rise in the crime rate we have to take it very seriously. We all know that knives can end lives and cause endless heartbreak."

Consultation over taking greens from council hands

BOWLING greens and croquet lawns in Stourbridge could be taken out of Dudley council hands and maintained by clubs instead, saving the cash-strapped authority around £48,000 a year.

Bosses are to launch a public consultation on whether the greens and lawns that are part of The Ernest Stevens Trust should be leased to members.

Council chief say around £48,000 per year would be saved if leases were transferred. It could mean clubs taking over the day-to-day running and general maintenance of the land.

Members of The Sons of Rest at Mary Stevens Park have objected, saying they go against the park's deed of gift.

Bowls secretary Roger Wynne said: "A legal lease is already in place with the deed of gift and its conditions. We cannot maintain the greens ourselves as we are all senior citizens and most there would be the need for chemicals and safety equipment and its just something we could not take on."

The survey also asks whether a restriction on ball games in the park on Sundays and Good Fridays should be lifted. Councillor Hilary Bills, for environmental services, said: "We have been trying to work with the clubs for two years now and we feel that this could be the best way for it to work."

The two-week consultation will start next Monday and run until November 13. It will be discussed further as part Ernest Stevens Trusts Management Committee tonight (Thursday) at Dudley Council House.

Carve out chance for zoo discount

DUDLEY Zoo is offering discounted group admission for up to four people if they bring a carved pumpkin for its Halloween pumpkin patch.

An animal adoption of the winner's choice is up for grabs for the best design.

Running until Sunday, visitors will be able to follow a trail around the 40-acre site and receive a treat at the end.

There'll be eerie arts and crafts in the spooky farm barn and the chance to design a pumpkin poster in the Queen Mary Restaurant. Visitors can also come face-to-face with creepy critters in the Ghoulish Go Wild! Show running daily at 11.30am and 2.15pm.

The zoo will also be raising money for its snow leopard enclosure extension appeal by running a daily raffle for the chance to feed pumpkin to the animals.

School allowed to take on extra pupils

EXPANSION plans for a primary school in Halesowen have been given the green light by council planners.

Proposals for two new classrooms and an office at Lapal Primary, in Priory Road, have been granted - allowing the schools to take on an extra 15 pupils.

Takeaways among the highest in Black Country

Brierley Hill has among the highest amount of takeaways in one ward for the whole of the Black Country, new figures have revealed.

The Public Health England figures show Brierley Hill has 37 takeaways, making it one of the highest for wards across the whole West Midlands.

In total Dudley has 81.7 takeaways per 100,000 people, ranking it the 12th highest out of 30 towns and cities in the West Midlands. There are 258 takeaways in the borough.

Current figures state around 70 per cent of the city is overweight with some 50 per cent not physically active.

Councillor Rachel Harris, cabinet member for health and well-being, said the council was doing what it could to control the mix of restaurants in key areas but that it was limited to work within a national framework.

She said: "Dudley Council wants our borough residents to benefit from eating well and leading an active lifestyle which is why we have produced planning for health guidance to reduce the number of hot food takeaways opening in close proximity to schools and oversubscribed town centres. The council endeavours to control the retail mix in key areas but can only work within the national planning framework.

"Our Dudley Food for Health awards also trains and then publicly recognises hot food providers offering healthy alternatives and educates businesses on how to promote and provide foods that are lower in salt, sugar and fat."

Exhibition under way at Glass Cone

A GLASS exhibition has opened in Stourbridge.

The Guild of Glass Engravers is returning to the Red House Glass Cone in Wordsley with a new selection of pieces.

This exhibition features work by members of the Stourbridge and Midlands branch and the South West branch of the Guild.

The pieces range from elaborate, large scale items to small Christmas decorations and most of the pieces are for sale.

The exhibition started on October 23 and runs until Friday, January 13.

The venue is open from 10am to 3pm Monday to Friday and 11am to 4pm at the weekends. Admission is free.

Match offer for fireworks night

STOURBRIDGE Rugby Club is offering free admission for a game with tickets for its bonfire. The Chester game on November 5 follows the bonfire from 6pm the day before at Stourton Park. Tickets are £5 or £2.50.

Carer shortlisted for Teen Hero award

Nominees with DJs and the Duke and Duchess of Windsor

A BLACK Country teenager who spends more than five hours a day caring for three of his family members was nominated for a top award – and met the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge ahead of the ceremony.

Alex Griffiths was shortlisted for the BBC Radio 1 Teen Hero Awards, which celebrate the achievements of young people across the country. The ceremony took place on Sunday. The 16-year-old from Brierley Hill has been a carer since he was just five – helping his mum, Sharon, who has MS, his grandmother Angela, who is a double amputee and his grandfather Albert, who has suffered from a series of strokes.

In between attending school and doing his volunteering work, he cooks meals, cleans the family home, changes his granddad's dressings and helps his nan in and out of her wheelchair. Alex is a part of Spurgeons' young carers committee, which helps improve the lives of young carers, as well as the services available to them. He speaks at key local events, and at school assemblies, and is a keen supporter of the MS Society, taking part in fundraising activities for the charity.

A commendation from Radio 1 said: "About to start his A-Levels, he hopes to enter medicine and take his role as a carer to a different level."

Traders force change to town market plans

TRADERS have forced organisers to amend plans for a weekly market in Stourbridge.

LSD Promotions wanted to launch a food and craft market on Thursdays, which would have involved closing the town centre's two main streets, High Street and Market Street, to traffic.

But the plans were withdrawn after the town's chamber of trade was unhappy about the planned road closures.

The company went back to the drawing board and has now revealed plans to move a market it already holds twice a month to the pedestrianised Lower High Street and Coventry Street, and to make it a weekly event each Saturday.

Original plans for the Thursday market were unveiled last year. LSD wanted to have stalls lining High Street and Market Street in a bid to attract more shoppers to the town. But the chamber of trade voiced its concerns.

There were mixed views to the market proposals from traders but some were concerned about High Street being out of action to vehicles and the impact that would have on businesses.

Discuss

Dermot McGillicuddy, from LSD Promotions, said: "The traders were not opposed to the market but they didn't want High Street closed. If we are up by the clock we won't have to close the road.

"We believe to have a Thursday market we would have had to close the road.

"We want to get the Saturday market running then maybe we can look again at the Thursday market and discuss it again with businesses. We will see if it is something we can explore again, maybe next year."

LSD currently holds a market on the first and third Saturday of the month at the top of Market Street, near Chicago's restaurant. It now wants to move it to a more prominent location as well as make it a weekly event.

Councillors will decide next Tuesday whether to grant consent for the Saturday market on Lower High Street and Coventry Street. It will feature food, crafts and various other goods.

The possibility of holding the market on Saturdays instead was floated by some traders and Stourbridge MP Margot James earlier this year but LSD Promotions initially said it was determined to stick to its Thursday plan.

Bonfire night to go off with a bang

Councillor Kurshid Ahmed with Kat and Olivia Brew looking forward to the fireworks

BONFIRE night is expected to go off with a big bang again this year at Himley Hall and Park as the venue hosts Dudley Council's 40th bonfire and fireworks event on November 5.

More than 1,500 wooden pallets will be used to build the bonfire. Fireworks will be released to the sound of a big hitting soundtrack, featuring some of the greatest artists of the last 40 years, including Michael Jackson, Davie Bowie, Queen, Coldplay and Adele.

Gates will open at 4.30pm with Heart FM entertaining the crowds from 6.30. The display is expected to attract around 20,000 visitors. The giant bonfire will be lit at 7.45pm with the fireworks spectacular set to music starting at 8.30pm. A giant funfair and seasonal refreshments will also be on offer.

Councillor Khurshid Ahmed, cabinet member for planning and economic development, said: "We're really excited about celebrating 40 years of Dudley Council's bonfire and fireworks event and it's great that people who remember going as children themselves are now taking their children and grandchildren to enjoy the fun."

Tickets are £9 for adults, £4.50 for juniors and senior citizens, while under 5s are free. A family ticket for two adults and two children is £23 and car parking is £3.

A free bus service is available from Dudley, Coseley, Sedgley, Quarry Bank, Brierley Hill, Halesowen and Stourbridge.

Keeping young safe on travels

YOUNG people have been encouraged to stay safe when using public transport in Dudley borough.

The Travel Smart West Midlands campaign has been set up by a group of Youth Police and Crime Commissioners to inform young people of how to keep safe and what to do if they run into any issues when travelling.

Tips are given to pupils in schools. Young people are invited to discuss their experiences and share tips on safely using public transport via Twitter @travelsmartwm and Facebook /travelsmartWM/

Spandau star in night at town hall

SPANDAU Ballet star Martin Kemp is heading to the Black Country for an up close and personal evening of conversation.

Kemp, who played Steve Owen in EastEnders and starred in The Krays with brother and bandmate Gary, appears at Stourbridge Town Hall tomorrow night (Friday), from 7.30pm.

He will discuss his life in the public eye and answer questions posed by the audience. For tickets or for more information, call 01384 812812.

MP pays visit to new supermarket in town

DUDLEY North MP Ian Austin has visited the town's newly opened Aldi store.

The MP was part of the campaign for planning permission for the new store, which is on the site of the former King Arthur pub and opened last Thursday.

Labour MP Mr Austin said: "I used to enjoy going to the King Arthur but it had stood derelict for years, residents wanted it sorted out and I am delighted that this store is now open."

Halloween activities

A BUILDING society branch is holding a Halloween party for the children of members tomorrow night (Friday).

The event runs at the Dudley Building Society's branch in Abbey Road, Lower Gornal, from 1 to 4pm. It will include meeting a witch and Halloween-themed arts and crafts.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

THIS week the first of the 'children' arrived from the Calais Jungle. They do not look like children. They look more like soldiers. It was a PR disaster. Given the suspicion that the system is being abused by adults posing as children, this was the perfect photo-opportunity for the authorities to bring a group of the sweetest, tiniest and most vulnerable little Jungle children to the UK. Instead of that heart-melting image, we were presented with a column of tall, confident youths. I can think of three explanations. Firstly, there are very few real children with British connections in the Jungle. Secondly, no-one in authority knows how the media works. Or thirdly, no-one connected with the migration programme gives a damn what the British public thinks.

ONE glaring question hangs over Jeremy Corbyn's ongoing furore about Baroness Chakrabarti. It is this: did none of the ****ing ****s running Corbyn's ****ing useless PR operation ever watch The Thick of It (BBC)? If they had, they would have realised by now that the storyline of Chakrabarti embarrassing the party by sending her child to private school is a re-run of minister Nicola Murray's (Rebecca Front) anguish in Armando Iannucci's darkly brilliant political satire.

The big difference is that in real life Corbyn is lacking the hyperactively foul-mouthed spin-doctor Malcolm Tucker (Peter Capaldi) to knock his minions into line. In The Thick of It, Tucker verbally batters the minister into submission, giving her a stark choice between sending her kid to the local comprehensive or packing her bags and heading for the back benches. In the finest traditions of Westminster, Nicola Murray puts career before kids. Rule one of politics: never embarrass the party.

AFTER my recent piece on the 770-calorie sandwich, a reader sends me the menu he took from a chippie in Glasgow. The bill of fare begins: "Chips. Chips and cheese. Chips and curry/gravy. Chips, cheese and curry. Deep-fried Mars Bar." In some parts of Glasgow life expectancy is 57. I'm amazed they last that long.

Hickory's Smokehouse to rise from the ashes

WORK has started to rebuild a fire-wrecked restaurant in Wall Heath – as bosses confirmed a re-opening date for the venue.

Hickory's Smokehouse in Kidderminster Road was devastated by a blaze in August sparked by a fault in a refrigeration unit. Signs on railings fencing off the site now warn passers-by to keep out as 'demolition is in progress'.

But bosses have explained that 'minor demolition works' for the worst affected areas of the American style eatery are now under way.

Rebuilding work is due to start later this year, with the hope of reopening in July 2017.

Evacuated

Hickory's Smokehouse manager Kris Perrin said: "We are so excited to be re-building the restaurant here in Wall Heath.

"We have had such an incredible amount of support from guests, residents and business colleagues in the area they have really given us the encouragement to raise from the ashes as it were and create a brand new Hickory's for the whole community."

The restaurant will be rebuilt, with work due to be completed by the middle of next year with a re-launch date in July.

A total of 15 fire crews were called to deal with the blaze with around 100 firefighters on the scene at its height.

By David Cosgrove

Firefighters remained on the scene for more than 15 hours, while the A449 was closed in both directions as a result of the blaze.

Guests in 22 rooms at the Kingfisher restaurant and hotel complex next door were evacuated, while the fire service advised people in the local area to keep their windows closed.

The restaurant only opened in November last year, replacing iconic night-spot the Kingfisher Club. A Hickory's spokesman said: "The Hickory's Smokehouse team have now confirmed that minor demolition works for the worst affected areas of the Wall Heath site are now under way, in order to allow building work to start in late autumn.

"They are delighted to confirm that due to the overwhelming level of support they have received from the local area they will be rebuilding the restaurant and work is expected to be completed by mid-summer 2017."

Ceremony to honour children's triumphs

A DUDLEY charity is holding a special awards night to recognise the children they help and their triumphs over adversity.

Tappy Twins, a community interest company with charitable status and based in Brierley Hill, was set up by Suzanne Skeete to support vulnerable youngsters.

She has also developed Teenline to help adolescents. It works with children online, in schools and with organisations, to help them overcome any negative experiences, trauma and worries. This is achieved through a combination of therapies, counselling, coaching and strategies as a one-to-one or in groups.

"I believe that every child deserves to be a child and not exposed to anything that harms them emotionally or physically. It is their right to feel safe, loved and happy," said Suzanne.

"There are countless young people out there who don't have this right and are very unhappy and need someone to talk to and help them. This is why Tappy Twins, Tappy Town and Teenline were born."

The charity has developed the Courageous Kids Awards, to highlight the the youngsters' achievements. The black tie event is at Edgbaston Cricket Ground on November 12 and includes a three-course meal and entertainment.

Tickets are available at eventbrite.com

NEWS IN BRIEF

Scotty T on way to town nightclub

THE winner of Celebrity Big Brother 2016 Scotty T is visiting a Stourbridge nightspot tomorrow (Friday).

The reality television star, real name Scott Timlin, will be at Chicago's at the Ryemarket, for a Halloween night special, called Quarantine Outbreak, on Friday. Tickets are on sale for £6 for the event, which runs from 8pm until 3am.

The hunky 28-year-old from Newcastle-upon-Tyne originally found fame in the controversial reality TV series Geordie Shore and also featured in Ex On The Beach.

Football heroes in charity match

WOLVES legends will take on Dudley Town Football Club in a match to raise money for charity next month.

A team organised by ex-Wolves star Mel Eves will take to the field at the Dell Stadium in Brierley Hill on Sunday, November 27, from 2.30pm.

Dudley Town will be raising money for various charities, including Dudley Fibro which supports people suffering from the painful condition fibromyalgia.

Tickets cost £5 adults and £3 concessions, available on the day or can be booked by calling 01384 226063.

Halloween fancy dress pub party

A BLACK Country pub is offering a prize for the best fancy dress outfit at its Halloween party night.

The event is being held in The Chapel House in Ruiton Street, Lower Gornal, tomorrow evening (Friday).

Man jailed for pool cue attack outside pub

A FATHER has been jailed for six years after attacking a man with a pool cue at a pub on New Year's Eve.

CCTV played at Wolverhampton Crown Court showed how 32-year-old Craig Davies, of Hildene Road, Kingswinford, snapped a pool cue which he then used to repeatedly strike a man.

The attack at the Lawnswood pub on Lawnswood Road, Wordsley, on December 31, left the victim with wounds to his head.

Prosecutor Mr Paul Farrow said that there were around 100 people in the pub celebrating New Year when, at about 10.40pm, the victim walked outside to have a cigarette.

Scared

"He can remember being outside for 10 minutes, but then he can't remember anything until he was being treated by paramedics," said Mr Farrow. In a statement, the victim said that as a result he initially had difficulty hearing and had been scared to go outside.

Although Davies initially gave a 'no comment' interview, he later pleaded guilty to both wounding with intent and possession of an offensive weapon. The CCTV showed the defendant breaking the snooker cue and heading outside.

For Davies, Miss Nicole Steers said he had no history of violent behaviour. She said: "Something happened between the complainant and his (Davies') sister. He lost his temper and responded in the way he did."

He was also given 12 months to run concurrently with the other sentence for possession of an offensive weapon.

Miss Steers said her client had no history of violent behaviour, and that it was an 'isolated' incident.

Kristian club's latest premises ready to roll

A GYMNASTICS club that counts Olympian Kristian Thomas among its members is set to open a second base in Oldbury.

Earls Gymnastics Club's plans for a new centre have been given the go-ahead by council planners.

Club chiefs said they have been scouring the Black Country for four years for a suitable site for another base, which will help cater for growing numbers. Bosses at the club, based in Halesowen, have been searching for new premises since 2012.

The 400-strong club has now submitted proposals to Sandwell Council for a unit in Wharfside, Oldbury and these were approved at a planning committee meeting recently.

However, they need to be rubber-stamped by full council before the scheme can begin.

Excellent

Speaking at the meeting, Councillor Susan Downing welcomed the scheme. She said: "Earls Gymnastics Club has got an excellent reputation and a lot of gymnasts from the club are getting recognition."

"I think this would be a great asset for our children in the Oldbury ward as well as the rest of the borough."

The club is hoping to run two sites - keeping its existing base in Halesowen and also operating from the Oldbury centre. Wolverhampton-born Kristian won gold at the 2015 European Championships on the floor.

A planning statement submitted by the club for a change of use at the Oldbury site states: "EGC have been looking for suitable premises for four years without success. When assessing the suitability of a property it is not just the physical size requirements and parking provision but also location is a key factor."

"The travel time and distance for the 400-strong membership has to be considered."

Tricks in store as gymnast leaps in

Gymnast Kristian Thomas opens the new Aldi on the site of the former Old King Arthur pub in Dudley

GYMNASTICS star Kristian Thomas unveiled a new supermarket in Dudley - as shoppers queued around the corner to get in.

Kristian, who hails from Wednesfield, cut the tape to mark the opening of the new Aldi store on the site of the old King Arthur pub on the Birmingham New Road.

Dozens of shoppers waited outside for the doors to open at 8am, eager to get their hands on gifts which were being given out to mark the occasion. Olympic medalist Kristian, who trains in Halesowen, was joined by Priory Primary School pupils to open the store and posed for pictures.

IN MY VIEW

Smile? No Lily you make me grimace!

MIGHT I take this opportunity to apologise, on behalf of my country, for Lily Allen. I would like to say sorry for what she has put millions of people through, for the pompous, self-indulgent navel-gazing in Calais, and thinking that a few hit records gives her the right to speak for the rest of us. But most of all for that ghastly, irritating, Smile song.

THE question mark about the age of some of the supposed child refugees at Calais reminds me of a rather embarrassing incident at a non-league football ground when I was in my late 20s. Keen not to miss the start of the game, I split up with my friends and headed for the turnstile with the shortest queue, where I was greeted by a decidedly off-hand match official.

"Four pounds, sir," he said with a curled lip, struggling to contain his contempt.

On meeting up with my group inside the ground, I observed what good value the tickets were. At which point it was pointed out that I had just gone through the gate for children and pensioners.

THE past quarter of a century has not been a vintage period for American presidents. Barack Obama's eight years in the White House have been largely forgettable, Bill Clinton's remembered only for a sex scandal, and George W Bush's tenure is, well, probably best forgotten altogether.

But the latest two contenders take it to a whole new level. In a country with a population of 320 million, could they really not have come up with better than this pair? A boorish billionaire against the bolshie wife of an unloved former president. It's the American equivalent of putting up Mike Ashley against Cherie Blair.

In any normal circumstances, putting forward either Hillary Clinton or Donald Trump as your candidate would guarantee victory to the other side. But here they both are, with very little to say about actual policy, trading insults in some ghastly race to the bottom.

If I were an American, I wouldn't vote for either of them. A polite abstention would surely be the best response. Something we would do well to remember next time somebody suggests making voting compulsory in this country.

GLASS half full, or half empty? On the one hand, Dudley has the fifth worst town centre of its size in the country for empty shops, with more than 20 per cent.

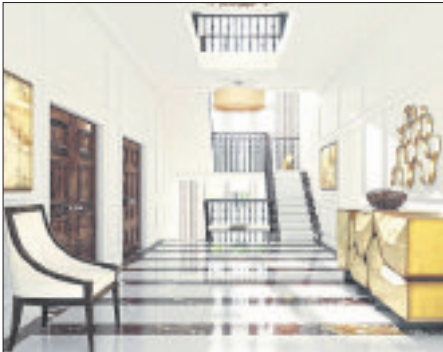

There is also no major department store, and while the much-vaunted light rail centre has finally been given the go-ahead, it will no longer link up with the national rail network, meaning it will continue to be the largest town in the country with no train link. Still, on the positive side, it has been shortlisted for a prestigious international competition for urban lighting...

£4m – city's most expensive home

The cost of this mansion will beat the previous record by half a million pounds, as JAMIE BRASSINGTON reports

PLANS to build a £4 million mansion have been given the green light by planners – which will make it the most expensive residential property to ever go on the city's property market.

The seven-bedroom estate in Edgbaston will feature a swimming pool, steam room, hot tub, sauna, gym and a squash court.

Birmingham City Council has given developers Woodbourne Group the go-ahead to start work on the 46 Westfield Road property.

It will be in 0.75 acres of land in the leafy suburb. The mansion has been given an estimated value of almost £4.1million. This beats the previous record in the city by half a million pounds, which was a property located in 4 Woodbourne Road.

Cinema

The new house will boast 10 bathrooms, seven of which will be en suite. It will also feature a drawing room, reception room, family room, dining room, a kitchen diner, dedicated laundry room, utility rooms, cloak store, an entrance hall and a tandem garage.

Buyers will also be able to enjoy a cinema, table tennis and snooker room and a luxury garden building.

The mansion is due to be completed by early 2018. The start of its development marks the first stage in a £31.7million-pound pipeline for Woodbourne Group since the relaunch of its development arm earlier this year.

Woodbourne Group's new expansion plan is being spearheaded by 24-year-old entrepreneur, Tani Dulay, who said: "We're very excited to get this project in motion."

"As a family business that is committed to the region, delivering exceptional service,

Seven-bedroom estate with luxury garden building in a leafy suburb will boast a gym and squash court among the many facilities backed by quality and design is crucial. Number 46 Westfield Road, whilst a significant project in its own right, is just a small step in the right direction for the company.

"Experience across the board culminated with our start-up mentality positions us well to deliver in a post-Brexit landscape."

"The UK still has the foundations for a boom in house building and we remain committed to meeting these needs."

Detailed illustrations for the property show how the inside would look.

Both the interior and exterior of the building have been recreated using computer-generated imagery, or CGI. One picture shows a white hallway with gleaming marble floors with wooden doors and golden decor.

Another shows an image of the swimming pool area and a spacious relaxation area with white-coloured furniture. The front and rear of the mansion has also been illustrated, which shows a sprawling back garden.

Affluent

The suburb of Edgbaston has been traditionally seen as one of the most upmarket and affluent areas of Birmingham.

A family called the Gough-Calthorpe's controlled the area in the 1800s where they refused factories or warehouses to be built there, which made it popular with the middle classes. This year, a multi-million-pound mansion in Edgbaston was sold for £2,200,000.

The property, called Aldorham, located at 37 Richmond Hill Road, was bought for the six figure sum in February. It was sold by estate agents Fine and Country.

The 19th century home boasts eight bedrooms and lavish gardens. A mansion, which was thought to have been the home of former Aston Villa manager Paul Lambert, was the most expensive to be sold in Birmingham last year.

The property in Sutton Coldfield was sold for £2,600,000.

We don't all learn at the same speed

IT appears that the powers that be are still trying to lump us together.

I was fortunate enough to pass the entrance exam and interview for grammar school against everyone's expectations.

I was not in any way a brilliant student and struggled my way to five GCEs, as the qualifications were then known.

However, some 17 years after leaving school I went to evening classes covering a subject which I had failed at GCE.

I was the oldest in the class and passed my exam with 86 per cent which gained me a credit. The point I am making is that we do not all learn at the same speed.

Many folk are brilliant from a young age, whatever their background.

Some of us struggle through and learn more slowly.

I feel that by trying to level the playing field in respect to education is quite possibly holding back the more early learners whilst destroying the confidence of the slower ones.

I was a product of a grammar school as was my late brother. He was a quick learner whilst I developed later in life. However, in spite of being physically disabled, certain of my teachers recognised something in me which they pushed me into doing.

I remember refereeing a game in our gym display and was given minor roles in our school plays.

I doubt that this would have happened if my education had been anything other than it was.

I am, because of this, all in favour of grammar schools.

Chance for action on tourist tax

THE European Union, together with Switzerland have recently introduced a tourist tax which is applicable to visitors to those countries.

The tax is typically four euros per person per night and at current exchange rates is a charge of £3.77 per night.

A family of four will now have to fund a tax charge of £105.56 for a week's holiday in Spain and other sunspots.

I can find no evidence that we plan a tourist tax on EU visitors to the United Kingdom.

We are still members of the EU and there are no reasons why we should not apply this tax, it would raise much needed money and could reduce the national debt.

Our prime minister, who so far has been very good on talk, now has the opportunity to take action on this tax, which would win approval from all in the UK.

Tempest ballet was fantastic production

I SAW the Tempest at Birmingham Hippodrome. Leon Burakowski's review insults the Birmingham Royal Ballet.

He writes 'Caliban's costume 'made him look like he'd escaped from a Vic Reeves and Bob Mortimer sketch'. From my A-Level studies, I'd say the costume and body features of Caliban in the ballet is how Shakespeare would have imagined.

Mr Burakowski complains of 'the sinking feeling of the horn pipe playing sailors' and 'the orchestra to bash and clatter annoyingly', the headline says 'Tempest caught In the doldrums'. It was a tempest at sea!

Prospero, he writes, 'seemed to do more glaring than dancing in this oddly gloomy production.' Glaring being part of his 'commanding presence', just that, commanding.

How can a storm-wrecked ship not have 'bash and clatter' music.

I've never seen anything like this ballet! An audience member said 'fantastic!' There were numerous encores. The ballet honoured Shakespeare in his 400th anniversary year.

Can Tory promises be trusted?

DURING the Conservative party conference in Birmingham, the Prime Minister made several clear promises: To listen to the people, to give more power to local government, to stand up for communities against conglomerates and multi-national companies and to remove inequality in the workplace. She has already broken several of these.

Just prior to the party conference she had promised that the NHS would recruit thousands of foreign nurses and doctors to bolster those in the NHS. Now she wants to restrict foreign medical staff and to recruit more British practitioners, which we clearly don't have.

The Tories promised that the NHS would be safe in their hands, but it is falling apart before our eyes.

We should remember this at the next election. Can we trust any of the Tory promises?

Councillors reject sports ground parking proposal

A CONTROVERSIAL plan to create a new car park at a sports ground in Stourbridge has been thrown out due to fears over traffic and safety.

The proposal for the King Edward VI playing fields in Oldswinford had looked set to go ahead after being backed by planning officers, but was turned down by councillors who were not satisfied with the plans.

The scheme, put forward by trustees of the King Edward VI College, would have seen 15 parking spaces created to serve its playing fields. But it led to a backlash from nearby residents who feared vehicles pulling in and out of the car park on Oakleigh Road could create a hazard on what they believe is already a dangerous junction with Love Lane.

A total of 534 people signed a petition against the proposals while 70 letters of objection were also lodged with the council. They claimed there have been a number of near misses on the road and that drivers often break the 30mph speed limit. Concerns were also raised about the potential for an increase in on-street parking.

Officers at Dudley Council suggested that creation of the car park would not impact on road safety and recommended approval. But councillors disagreed and unanimously voted to reject the proposals.

Councillor Paul Bradley, from the committee, said the plan would be 'unfair' on residents. He added: "We had a site visit, which always tells us more than looking at the plans on a screen. We could see the geography of it. If the car park was on that side of the playing fields all the cars would end up on Oakleigh Road and Love Lane."

An experiment in terror – Oldbury Rep's Garry Cooper as Dr Henry Jekyll and Shady Murphy as Eleanor O'Donnell

No Hyding place as Rep's latest horror show is lined up

OLDBURY Rep continues its season with a gothic tale for cold November nights – The Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde. The production is a new adaptation of Robert Louis Stevenson's sinister study of schizophrenia by Nick Lane.

Doctor Henry Jekyll is a good man. Successful within his field, respected by his peers, and close to a neurological discovery that will change the face of medical science forever... but his methods are less than ethical.

When a close friend and colleague threatens to expose and destroy his work, Jekyll is forced to experiment on himself and something goes very wrong – or very right! Suddenly Jekyll has a new friend, the brutal Edward Hyde.

Concerts

The production runs from Saturday, November 5 to the following Saturday, with all performances starting at 7.30pm. Tickets can be obtained by phone or in person from the box office on Mondays from 7.30pm, and on the Friday prior to opening night from 7.30pm, and every night of the production from 7pm.

Charge over death of passenger admitted

A DRIVER has admitted causing the death of his passenger after the car they were in smashed through a garden wall in Dudley.

Timothy Pearson, aged 23, was killed when a Nissan Skyline driven by Jamie Wharton left the road and careered into a garden in St Peter's Road, Netherton.

Wharton pleaded guilty at Wolverhampton Crown Court to causing death by careless or inconsiderate driving. The 31-year-old, of Birch Coppice, Quarry Bank, had been due to stand trial on a charge of causing death by dangerous driving but the Crown Prosecution Service agreed to accept a guilty plea to the lesser charge.

Wharton was warned by Judge John Wait that he could expect to receive a custodial sentence.

Skidded

The court heard the pair were in the car together on the evening of June 3, 2014, when it left the road in wet conditions.

The Nissan skidded sideways off the road in a 'crab-like' movement. Mr Pearson, from Quarry Bank, was pronounced dead at the scene. Wharton was injured but has made a full recovery.

Dressed in a dark suit and white shirt, Wharton showed no emotion during the hearing and spoke only to confirm his guilty plea as family and friends of Mr Pearson looked on from a packed public gallery.

Prosecuting, Miss Sally Hancox said the wet surface and the fact that the car had moved sideways before leaving the road made it difficult to determine how fast it had been going. But she said it was the prosecution's case that Wharton's driving fell 'not far short of dangerous driving'.

She also said there was 'no suggestion of any difficulties or pre-existing mechanical problems' with the car.

Judge John Wait said: "Loss of life is not something which just happened in June 2014 but continues to affect many lives now. That person who lost their life more than two years ago is irreplaceable to those who lost him."

Choral society date

HALESOWEN Choral Society will be performing an autumn concert next month.

The concert takes place on Saturday November 12 at 7.30pm at St Margaret's Church, in Hasbury.

It will be a production of Saul by George Frideric Handel with soloists Bridget Kerrison and Matthew Reeve. Tickets are £8, which will be available on the door.

Generous help for cancer victim after mugging

A GOOD Samaritan has handed over hundreds of pounds in donations to a terminal cancer patient who was mugged of his pension in broad daylight.

Seventy-eight-year-old Roy Weston was robbed in Brierley Hill after picking up his and his wife Maureen's weekly pension from the post office at around 9.20am on September 12.

Last year grandfather Mr Weston was diagnosed with terminal prostate cancer, and the disease has spread to his bones. And, when a man and woman pounced on him outside Pepe's hairdressers in the High Street, he was unable to fight back.

Tripled

After the mugging was reported, readers offered to make donations and a crowdfunding page was set up by fellow cancer sufferer David Webb.

He had hoped to raise £200, but has more than tripled this by collecting £600.50.

Mr Webb who was born and raised in Tipton, but did not know the couple beforehand, said: "I've just survived lung cancer myself, with surgery on two thirds of my right lung.

"I was shocked when I read about what happened to Roy, and he is of course terminal, poor guy.

"It was suggested on Facebook that a JustGiving page should be set up for him, and I knew what I was doing having raised £1,500 for cancer research when I was diagnosed.

"We've managed to raise £600.50 for him, and I'm very moved to see everyone's generosity in putting their hands in their pockets."

Mr Webb's kindness was also demonstrated through him driving from his current home in Tunbridge

Dave Webb, left, hands over the £600 to Roy Weston, of Brierley Hill

Wells to present the money to Mr Weston in person.

He still managed to get there - with the RAC's help - despite his car breaking down due to an exhaust fault about a mile from his home. "Nothing was going to stop me," added Mr Webb.

The 58-year-old says he is disheartened to hear about the spate of crime in the area, where his daughter still lives. "It's shocking to hear about all this going on in Brierley Hill, and now with the stabbing there too," he said.

Touched by the generous response by so many to his ordeal, Mr Weston, who lives in Brierley Hill, said: "Words can't explain how kind they have been, and now with Dave coming here."

The pensioner added that while he was now going out into town again, the fear attack hadn't gone away.

"I am still getting about, but I'm anxious of people behind me. I've still got a bit of nerves," he said. "But all the people have been so kind."

His daughter Diane added: "The whole family are overwhelmed by this exceptional kindness."

Bargain lots as homes go under the hammer

This home in Lewis Street, Great Bridge sold for £80,000

HOUSE hunters grabbed a bargain at an auction which saw homes from the Black Country go under the hammer.

The auction at Villa Park featured a range of different properties in various states of repair.

The properties were sold by Birmingham-based auctioneers SDL Bigwood, with homes from Middlesbrough and Liverpool also appearing. Prices ranged from £5,000 to £1.3million.

Auctions partner Gurpreet Bassi said: "Auctions have become more popular and we expect the popularity to continue, helped by programmes such as Homes Under

The Hammer and auctions becoming more accessible to the general public.

"Properties are offered at auction for a variety of different reasons such as receivership and probate sales, which is reflected in the price as more and more sellers are looking for certainty of sale and a sale in quick time frame.

"This auction in particular was a great result for us and another feather in the cap for Birmingham.

"Once again, we are pleased to report that we had a strong auction, with a very busy room and we raised over £8.7 million in sales with a sale success rate of 85 per cent."

A spacious three-bedroom terrace property in Lewis Street, Great Bridge, had an asking price of £45,000 but sold for £80,000. In Parkfields Road, Wolverhampton, a two-bed terraced home near the Birmingham New Road sold for £67,000. Its guide price was between £43,000 and £48,000.

Located between Green Lane and the B4210, a three-bedroom terrace property on Providence Lane in Walsall sold for £51,000, just shy of the guide price of £49,000.

The sum got the buyers a hall, reception room, kitchen, downstairs bathroom, landing, rear garden and small front yard.

In Dudley, a two-bedroom terraced property on Prince Street with an asking price of £60,000 to £65,000 will be offered in the December auction sale.

The next SDL Bigwood auction is on Wednesday November 9.

Museum becomes a House of Horror

Haden Hill House Museum visitor services officer Alison Hyatt promotes the Halloween activities

SPOOKTACULAR events will be taking place at a popular visitor attraction this half-term school holiday. From scary craft making to pumpkin carving, Haden Hill House in Cradley Heath will be transformed into a haunted mansion for Halloween.

Events will run until tomorrow (Friday) with the House of Horror Family Fun Day. More than 300 people are expected to visit over the course of the week.

Alison Hyatt, visitor services manager at the Barrs Road attraction, said: "This is the fourth year we have done this now and the events get popular all the time. We often expect up to 300 to 400 people to come and it's a great atmosphere.

"Staff will be dressed in costumes and you can expect to find the odd lizard, witch or magic potion around but nothing too scary. We would love to see adults and children come in costumes too.

"These events are important to us as they promote the community and our wonderful buildings. Over the past few years we have had a lot of people come who have not seen the buildings before and its lovely to see new faces.

"We would encourage anyone to pop along and get involved because it's minimal hassle for parents and there's lots to do and see."

The House of Horror Family Fun Day runs from noon until 4pm, featuring Halloween fun for all the family, with music, magic and more. All the events are also supported by the Haden Hill Friends Group and booking is essential. Call 01384569444.

Charity night of glitz and glamour

A NIGHT of glitz and glamour will be held in Dudley to help raise funds to support a cancer charity this weekend. The Venue, based in Dudley high street, opposite Top Church, is hosting a Great Gatsby Ball on Saturday.

Money from the night, organised by marketing and events manager Xenna Sowka and her colleague Kash Deo, will bring in cash for Cancer Research UK. Together, they aim to raise £5,000 after both having personal experiences of cancer with close family members. Along with their resident DJ, Kevin Bingham, there will also be entertainment from trio band the Miss Fortunes.

There will also be large auction with prizes including sporting memorabilia.

The tickets will include a hot pork buffet. Guests are invited to dress in vintage clothing and sharp suits.

Tickets can be bought from The Venue Box Office which is at 171-173 High Street, Dudley.

They are also available by calling 01384 453101.

Tickets are £20 for adults, and £10 for children under 10. This sum includes entry and the buffet.

Big Brother's Craig opens £1.5m college skills centre

THE first winner of TV's Big Brother has opened Stourbridge College's £1.5million construction centre.

Builder Craig Phillips, who won the first UK series of the TV show in 2000, visited Stourbridge College's new centre, which contains carpentry, electrical and plumbing workshops.

College bosses hope to support industry skills shortages by training students for jobs needed in the construction industry and allied trades. Year 10 students from Pedmore Technology College and Redhill Foundation School received a construction mini master class from Phillips before competing against one another in three practical challenges.

The Liverpool-born former bricklayer has crafted a new career presenting DIY TV shows.

He said: "I'm hugely impressed with the college's facilities and how the students have made full use of the resources now available to them.

"I've experienced every side of the construction industry from worker to trainer to business owner, so I'm well aware of how important it is for young people to be supported in their careers.

"This centre will make a difference in the region and inspire generations to come."

The construction centre enables the college to welcome 350 additional students to their Hagley Road campus.

Gill Coldicott, head of Stourbridge College, said: "'We've recognised the growth in apprenticeships and continue to work with many employers looking to recruit staff and develop their existing workforces."

Man is charged after violent death

A MAN from Sheffield has been charged over the death of a 33-year-old Yorkshireman who was found with serious injuries on a Halesowen street.

Karl Swift, from South Yorkshire, died of his injuries after being found on New Road. He is believed to have been in the William Shenstone pub in the town earlier.

Dean Hartley, aged 29, of Burnaby Crescent, Sheffield, has been charged with manslaughter and appeared at Dudley Magistrates Court last week. He is due to appear at Wolverhampton Crown Court today (Thursday).

Dean Hartley senior, aged 51, of Chaucer Road, Sheffield, and Lee Ardron, 29, of Broad Inge Crescent, Sheffield, have been charged with attempting to pervert the course of justice and have been bailed to appear before Walsall Magistrates Court on November 18.

An investigation was launched after Mr Swift was found and then died in hospital the following day. Senior investigating officer Detective Inspector Paul Joyce said: "We are still keen to hear from anyone who was in the area on Thursday, September 8 into the early hours of Friday."

MPs join fight over pharmacy funding cut

BLACK Country Labour MPs are backing a campaign opposing a Government plan to cut the budget for chemists – potentially putting 653 West Midlands pharmacies at risk.

Talks about a new package of funding for community pharmacies have fallen apart.

The Government is set to push through a funding cut that could force thousands of chemists to close across the country, according to Dudley North Labour MP Ian Austin.

He said the Government's initial plan to cut £170 million from the community pharmacy budget – a six per cent reduction – has been put on hold after pressure from campaigners.

But a new round of damaging cuts could now be imposed.

Estimates showed that the £170m cut could have meant up to 3,000 community pharmacies – that's one in four nationwide – closing down.

Across Birmingham and the Black Country 653 community pharmacies serving 2.5 million people could be put at risk as a result of the funding cuts.

Bad

Mr Austin said: "The Government should drop their damaging plan to cut community pharmacies and get back around the negotiating table.

"Cutting community pharmacies would be bad for our local community as many people, including young families and elderly people rely on them for free medical advice and prescription medicine.

"The Government's plan is also a false economy for the NHS, because community pharmacies save the NHS money.

"Cutting them will only add more costs in the long run," he added.

"The Government should

By David Cosgrove

think again urgently before it is too late."

Wolverhampton North East MP Emma Reynolds has lent her support to the campaign.

In Parliament she asked Health Minister David Mowat directly: "How many pharmacies will close as a result of these cuts?" The minister responded that it was very difficult to predict.

He said: "We do not believe that any community pharmacies will necessarily close as a result of these cuts.

"That will depend on a number of factors. It depends on the margin they make from their pharmacy activities and on the additional margin they make from their retail activities.

"Given that 65 per cent of all pharmacies are owned by public companies or private equity, it depends on the position those organisations take to their businesses.

"That is very hard to predict."

Ms Reynolds said afterwards: "I am very concerned that the Minister was unable to give a straight answer to a straight question."

The minister has said the Government had decided that the current system was not the best use of NHS resources.

"Far from jeopardising services, our modernisation package will help improve them," added Mr Mowat.

Celebrating 25 years

A BUILDING society is celebrating 25 years at Merry Hill shopping centre.

Coventry Building Society is marking its anniversary this month having been set up at the Brierley Hill malls since 1991.

Steven Jenkins, manager at the Coventry's Merry Hill branch, said: "We're very excited about celebrating 25 years at Merry Hill. Over the years, we've provided much-needed banking services and developed really strong relationships with our members and the local community."

Murder suspect's cell death ruled as suicide

AN inquest jury has concluded the death of suspected double murderer Leo Barnes was suicide.

Barnes, aged 33, from Birmingham, was found hanging in his cell at HMP Hewell in Redditch in January 2015. At the time, he was on trial at Wolverhampton Crown Court.

Barnes was accused of battering 80-year-old grandmother Cynthia Beamond to death with a saucepan at her Halesowen home, and then killing 67-year-old Philip Silverstone with a car jack at his flat in Belsize Park, London. He had denied both murders.

Following the five-day inquest at Worcestershire Coroner's Court in Stourport, the jury returned a conclusion that his death was suicide.

Appear

Barnes was found hanging in his cell at about 6.05am on Sunday, January 25. On the Friday before, he had been due to be cross-examined by prosecutors, but didn't appear in court after complaining of feeling ill.

During the inquest before Coroner Geraint Williams, a member of Barnes' defence counsel, Joseph Kotrie-Monson, said he had told him he wanted to take his own life.

However senior custody officer at the crown court, Marie Dance of prison transportation and custody company GeoAmey, said Barnes was asked 'on every day' about his mental state. She said: "I spoke to Mr Barnes and he stated to myself that he had no thoughts or issues at present."

Forensic psychiatrist Dr Dinesh Maganty said: "With others who are depressed it is much more straight forward. We can see there is certain behaviour, they can't hide the symptoms, they can't hide the difficulties. That would not be the case with Mr Barnes. He could hide his symptoms."

Investment in Merry Hill

SHOPPING centres owner intu Properties is to invest £85 million over the next two years to improve its Merry Hill complex, but it says the impact of the BHS closure could reduce the level of rental income growth this year.

The group is to re-model the now vacant BHS store at Merry Hill.

It has announced a £350 million bond offering with part of the money raised to be used to finance the initiatives planned by 2018 to improve the shopping centre. It said it remained on target to deliver growth in like-for-like net rental income for 2016 in the range of three to four per cent.

A company statement said: "We expect this momentum to continue in 2017 with good progress on lettings and rent reviews as set out in this statement."

"We also have opportunities to improve the tenant mix from re-letting the BHS stores and taking major stores back for re-modelling at intu Lakeside and intu Merry Hill."

Great name started life making pedals

ONE of the great names in British motorcycle engine production, Villiers Engineering, started life making cycle pedals.

In 1898 John Marston was dissatisfied with the pedals he was fitting to his Sunbeam bicycles. He despatched his son, Charles to America, on a sales trip and to visit Pratt & Whitney in Connecticut, to obtain rights to their superior pedals.

On his return a small Japanese business in Villiers Street was bought, and turned over to pedal manufacture, supplying other makers besides Sunbeam. In 1920, the new company was sold outright to Charles Marston, and in the same year they developed the first freewheel, soon to be wanted by all cycle makers.

In 1912 the company made its first engines, a 4-stroke 350cc and a 2-stroke 269cc, and this soon became the main part of Villiers' business, supplying engines for motorcycles, generators and many other purposes.

In World War Two, they not only continued supplying their engines for military applications, like generating sets and powerful chainsaws, but made thousands of shell fuses.

After the war they carried on making a variety of engines, the two millionth being made in 1956. In the early 60s the company was taken over by Manganese Bronze and in 1966 merged with AMC to become Norton-Villiers, which in turn merged with BSA in 1972 to become Norton-Villiers-Triumph, in a desperate attempt to save the British motorcycle industry fighting a losing battle with Japanese imports.

Norton Commando motorcycles were even made at the Marston Road works, but it was not to be and the company went into liquidation in 1978. At the Tettenhall Transport Heritage Centre there are Villiers engines on display, and others awaiting restoration. Help from volunteers is sought.

Hospital staff in lather for charity

HOSPITAL staff are aiming to raise bucket loads of cash for Children in Need by staging a charity car wash.

Workers from different departments at West Midlands Hospital, in Halesowen, are teaming up to support the annual appeal on Friday, November 18. Patients and staff can have their car washed for a minimum £3 donation on the day between 10am and 2pm.

Employees will staff the car wash on an hourly rota basis and staff will also be making donations to wear fancy dress for a day or a Pudsey bear item.

Tania Peters, quality improvement manager, said: "We are looking forward to supporting this national appeal.

"We organise a number of fundraising initiatives throughout the year which involve staff from all departments and this is the latest activity. It promises to be a great day and staff in fancy dress will add to the occasion."

Couple celebrate 65th anniversary

Robert and Elsie Skerrett, who are marking their sapphire wedding anniversary

A BLACK Country couple has celebrated 65 years of wedded bliss. Robert and Elsie Skerrett, both aged 87, who live in West Bromwich, have been together since 1951. They met at Edwin Danks, in Oldbury, and have been inseparable ever since.

They tied the knot in St Giles' Church, in Rowley Regis, in October 1952. Mr Skerrett grew up in Rowley Regis and Mrs Skerrett in West Bromwich. They met at the engineering firm when they were both aged 22 and have been together ever since.

Mrs Skerrett said: "I love him just as much now as I did then. We've had our ups and downs and I think anyone who says they haven't had arguments during their married lives are telling fibs."

Dine

The couple have stayed strong for a number of reasons, according to Mrs Skerrett. "We don't keep secrets and you always have to give and take," she said.

"If he wants a night out with the lads then he can go, and if I want a night out with the girls I can go. He looks at the menu but he always comes home to dine."

Retired structural engineer Mr Skerrett and his wife had a total of six children together – sons Michael, Peter and Andrew, and daughters Hazel, Sharon and Nicola.

They have four grandchildren – Christopher, Laura, Lucy and Andrew – and one great-grandchild, Macey.

Better results, but school will still shut

A SCHOOL due to close next year recorded the second most improved exam results in the Dudley borough – despite council bosses saying they had 'no alternative' but to shut it.

GSCE results at Coseley School show a 16 per cent increase on 2015, with 47 per cent of pupils gaining five A* to C grades, including maths and English.

Councillor Ian Cooper, cabinet member for children's services, said: "Although the five A*C figure is improved and welcomed, the measure of progress using the new national measures for Coseley is well below the national expectation."

But Councillor Star Arderton, who is against the closure, said argued Dudley Council 'did not give the school a chance to improve'.

Phil Nicholls, assistant head at the school, said he was 'exceptionally proud' of the pupils.

Woman in scissors attack on partner spared immediate jail

REPORT BY NATHAN BRIANT

A WOMAN who attacked her boyfriend with scissors during an alcohol-fuelled row has been given a suspended sentence.

Gemma Maiden, of High Street, Quarry Bank, had been on a night out with her long-term partner Ben Chapman on August 2 when an argument broke out.

Mr Chapman punched Maiden first – but she attacked him with the scissors as he went to leave their home, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told. He was left with scratches down his back, prosecutor Helen Chamberlin said. Maiden, aged 25, said she had no recollection of hurting him in that way.

They had been out celebrating after Mr Chapman was given an award for entertaining at a Mecca Bingo hall. But an argument flared in their bedroom.

Maiden said it was over a phone but Mr Chapman told police it was over a comment she had made about his award.

The court was told the couple has 'now very much reconciled' and, in an unusual move, Judge James Burbidge QC invited Mr Chapman to give his view before he sentenced Maiden. Mr Chapman said what Maiden did was out of character and that she was getting help to deal with mental health issues.

He said: "That is not her. I wouldn't have been with her for six years if it was."

The court was told she has seven convictions for 16 offences, which include dishonesty, criminal damage and traffic offences. He also told the court that he had sought to retract his complaint over Maiden's behaviour a week later.

Sentencing Maiden, Judge Burbidge said, of Mr Chapman: "He would be the most at risk if you were to resort to violence and so his words to court are important words and therefore I can suspend the time of imprisonment."

Maiden was given a jail term of four months, suspended for 18 months. She will also need to undertake a 30-day rehabilitation activity requirement over 12 months.

See light and vote for town

RESIDENTS across the borough have been urged to vote for Dudley town centre in an international lighting award.

In the last two years, the town's market place has undergone a multi-million pound revamp including a new feature lighting system.

This has now been shortlisted in a global competition for a City People Light award.

Dudley is up against 14 other projects from around the world including schemes in Canada, Mexico, Columbia, Sweden and Denmark.

Councillor Khurshid Ahmed, for planning and economic development, said: "Being nominated alongside projects from around the world is testament to the fantastic system we have in place."

Vote at http://www.lighting.philips.com/content/B2B\_LI/en\_AA/campaign/city-people-light.html before October 31.

Tom, Wave hello to solo stardom

ALBUMS

by Leon Burakowski

Tom Chaplin is feeling epic on his debut solo album The Wave.

Constantly returning to an aquatic theme, these songs will please fans of his band Keane with crowd-pleasing choruses and anthemic grandeur. But he is also good on the piano-led ballads.

Key tracks include The River, Still Waiting, Quicksand and Hardened Heart, the latter about defeating his personal demons. There is a melancholic feel to the album but the songs are also uplifting, and his vocals soar.

His Brum Glee Club gig on Sunday is sold out. His next could be at an arena if this catches the ears of U2 and Brandon Flowers' fans.

Seasick Steve is in fine form on his eighth album, Keepin' The Horse Between Me And The Ground. The double CD features 20 songs ranging from raw blues stomps to wistful hobo laments with a little country and rock too.

Highlights include Hell, which recycles the Spirit In The Sky riff as Steve decides where to send all the politicians and bankers; the poignant Shipwreck Love; plus some heartfelt covers of Gentle On My Mind, Everybody's Takin', Love's Signed DC and Hank Williams' I'm So Lonesome.

The end of a relationship has inspired many albums so its refreshing that Jack Savoretti on his latest, Sleep No More, sings about staying together through the difficult times that all couples at some time face. The singer-songwriter's velvet on sandpaper voice is appealing, as are these restless songs that he describes as 'a love letter to my wife'.

New wave – Tom Chaplin on the road

He recorded each song in a day in a bid to capture the emotion and it has worked, an essential rawness not overpowered by lush touches like the strings on We Are Bound.

Other highlights include the gently rocking When We Were Lovers, the heartfelt I'm Yours, the soaring Troubled Souls and the title song with it's Ennio Morricone movie theme feel.

Savoretti made his name with his last album Written in Scars but has surpassed it with Sleep No More. He is in concert at Birmingham O2 Institute on Thursday, November 3.

Rebecca Ferguson is one of the best singers discovered by The X Factor but I feared for her career when her last album took the redundant step of covering the Billie Holiday songbook, due to the similarity in their smoky vocals. New album Superwoman reinvents the Liverpudlian songstress as a soul singer, albeit one with her own distinctive phrasing and vulnerable emotive style. Bones, the opening song and single, swells nicely and there are retro nods (a hint of Motown on Don't Want You Back and Stax on the title song). Even so-so power ballads are elevated into something special when showcasing Ferguson's tender-tough vocal. Rebecca Ferguson is in concert at Birmingham Symphony Hall on Wednesday, November 2.

Broadway star Idina Menzel, best known for belting out Defying Gravity and Frozen's Let It Go, turns to power ballads – the closest pop genre to showtunes – for her fifth solo album, idina.

None of the 12 original songs are likely to set the charts aflame but on Queen Of Swords she shows that she is a match for such divas as Celine Dion. Her voice is at its most interesting on a (relatively) restrained song like I See You, though even then a show-stopping finale can't be resisted.

New York synth duo Phantogram are on the cusp of the big time with album Three and key track You Don't Get Me High Anymore, sounding like Lana Del Rey given a dubstep revamp. With a sound that ranges from Mercury Rev-like indie quirk to twitchy Skrillex-ish arrangements, Sarah Barthel and Josh Carter are an intriguing musical partnership who could appeal to fans of Sia and Halsey thanks to the blend of electronica with Barthel's alto vocal.

Australian outfit Jagwar Ma conjure up a glorious blend of psychedelic pop and dance music that harks back to the heyday of The Stone Roses and Primal Scream on their second album, Every Now & Then, whilst fellow Aussies Tame Impala are also brought to mind.

Highlights include the jangling guitars and propulsive synths of Say What You Feel, which morphs into a cousin of Chris Brown's Beautiful People, and the Fatboy Slim-like Give Me A Reason.

Time to switch on the Telemen

Telemen get to the point – the London band bring their Brilliant Sanity album to the Slade Rooms in Wolverhampton

LONDON indie rock band Telemen, recently seen on Later With Jools Holland, are in concert at Wolverhampton's Slade Rooms on Wednesday (November 2).

The quartet's second album, Brilliant Sanity, was well received earlier this year. It saw the group, which includes former members of noughties outfit Pete And The Pirates, hone their angular blend of catchy pop tunes with moody undercurrents.

Comparisons could include Franz Ferdinand and Arcade Fire.

It will be interesting to see frontman Tommy Sanders and co translate album highlights like Tangerine, Düsseldorf and Glory Hallelujah into rock anthems for the live environment.

Telemen release the single English Architecture in December. For tickets see boxoffice@wolvescivic.co.uk or call 0870 320 7000.

Other key gigs include former

Keane singer Tom Chaplin's sold out Glee Club set on Sunday, the same night US band The Lumineers bring their Cleopatra World Tour to Birmingham O2 Academy.

Bear's Den have sold out the O2 Institute on Wednesday, the same night Gabrielle plays Birmingham Town Hall and Rebecca Ferguson is at Symphony Hall. Liverpool psych rock masters Echo & the Bunnymen play the Wulfrun Hall on November 3.

Jack's love letter to wife

SINGER-SONGWRITER Jack Savoretti releases his new album, Sleep No More, tomorrow (Friday) and is in concert at Birmingham's O2 Institute next Thursday (November 3) as part of his UK tour.

Sleep No More is the follow-up to his hugely successful breakthrough album Written In Scars.

The new album's opener and first single is When We Were Lovers, it sets the tone for a set of 12 songs that Jack describes as a "love letter to my wife".

"The whole point of this album is that it's about the stuff that keeps you up at night," Jack explains.

Sleep No More is an album about the very real struggles of holding on to love against the odds.

"It's the first album I've written as an adult... as somebody trying to be an adult at least!" laughs the 33-year-old Londoner.

Capture

Each song is a showcase for his soulful but rough at the edges vocals, from the honest warmth of I'm Yours, via the anthemic We Are Bound to the joy of Any Other Way.

Savoretti set himself a rule that each song would be written, recorded and completed from scratch in one single day.

"I wanted to capture how you sing a song for the first time," he recalls. "It's really hard to replicate, you can never beat that performance. It might not be pitch perfect but there will be something in it that connects."

"I'm not a perfectionist. On the contrary, I'm like 'No, that's great! Let's go with this!'"

Rep stage is set for Rivers of Blood play

A LINK between a former Express & Star editor and Enoch Powell's Rivers of Blood speech is explored in a major new play which receives its world premiere at Birmingham Rep.

Clem Jones was editor of the newspaper in 1968 when the MP for Wolverhampton South West made his controversial speech that unleashed a political storm.

The story is told by Clem Jones' son, former BBC political correspondent Nicholas Jones, in his book Sultans of Spin which has informed the play, What Shadows by Chris Hannan. It is staged from October 27 to November 12 with acclaimed actor Ian McDiarmid as Powell.

Discover famous Mousetrap twist

THE touring production of Agatha Christie's murder mystery with a twist, The Mousetrap, will begin the final leg of its UK tour at Birmingham's New Alexandra Theatre from Monday, October 31, to Saturday, November 5.

The Mousetrap opened at Nottingham Theatre Royal in 1952 starring Richard Attenborough and his wife Sheila Sim. It moved to London that year and is still running in the West End, the world's longest running stage production with more than 26,000 performances. The 60th Anniversary UK tour is a more modest record-breaker with over 1,100 performances.

Comedians line up for lots of laughs

BRITAIN'S best known 'Pub Landlord', Al Murray will have a full house for his Let's Go Backward Together show at Birmingham Rep on Sunday. But there may be some tickets left to see his Wolverhampton Civic Hall show on November 5.

Comedy highlights at Birmingham Town Hall include sardonic host of Radio 4's The News Quiz, Miles Jupp, on Saturday and ventriloquist Nina Conti on Sunday.

At the Wulfrun Hall, Tape Face (formerly The Boy With Tape On His Face) brings his crazed antics on Tuesday and 'Mouth of the South' Rob Beckett is on Wednesday.

The Greatest, BBC1, 11.45pm
A grieving mother becomes obsessed with her dead son's last moments, while her unfaithful husband struggles to comfort her and their surviving son feels he can never live up to his brother's reputation. Drama, starring Pierce Brosnan, Susan Sarandon and Carey Mulligan. (2009)

THURSDAY

Back to Christmas, Channel 5, 3.15pm
A woman travels back to the Christmas before her engagement broke down and tries to repair what went wrong. However, she soon realises it is a challenging undertaking. Romantic fantasy, starring Kelly Overton. (2014)

FRIDAY

We Are the Best!, Channel 4, 1.35am
Two rebellious teenage girls growing up in 1980s Stockholm discover punk rock, and are inspired to start their own band, despite the mockery of their classmates. They find an unexpected kindred spirit in a born-again Christian girl, who has the musical talent they need. Drama based on Coco Moodysson's graphic novel, starring Mira Barkhammar. (2014)

A tale of adultery, fraud, bigamy and murder

According to the skipping rhyme she inspired, the Victorian serial killer Mary Ann Cotton is 'dead and forgotten' but it seems that's not quite the case.

Her story has intrigued writer Gwyneth Hughes, who explores the life of the poisoner in the new-two part drama Dark Angel.

And it also captured the attention of Downton Abbey star Joanne Froggatt, who plays Mary Ann. The actress says: "I was really excited about this role. Although Dark Angel is a period drama, Mary Ann could not be more different from (Downton's) Anna Bates."

In fact, Joanne was so intrigued, she even did some of her own additional research into Mary Ann to help understand what drove the real-life murder. She explains: "I read a book about her which is a factual account, as far as we know, of what happened. Then I did some research on female serial killers in general and the differences between male and female serial killers."

"Because to play somebody you have to make sense of what they're doing in their head. Not only to make sense of it for you, but you have to make sense of their thought processes and their feelings. It's very challenging with such serious subject matter."

When we first meet Mary in this opening episode, she's in her mid-twenties, married to Billy Mowbray (Tom Varey), and has lost four children over the course of four years – only her fifth daughter, Margaret Jane, has survived.

The family, who have been living in Cornwall, decide to make a fresh start by returning to Mary's native Seaham, County Durham, where they receive a warm welcome from her mother Margaret (Penny Layden) and kindly stepfather George (Alun Armstrong).

In fact, George is so keen to protect his stepdaughter's interests, he persuades Billy to take out life insurance – and when Mary then meets flirtatious miner Joe (Jonas Armstrong) while buying arsenic to sort out a case of bed bugs, it looks like she will be collecting on the policy sooner rather than later...

It's the first in what becomes a string of crimes as Mary begins insinuating her way into other families.

Joanne believes Mary's losses, and the times she was living in, go somehow towards explaining – although not justifying – her actions.

"We first meet her at the age of 25 when she has suffered the natural loss of four of her children. I guess she almost goes mad with grief at some points..."

"She is a working-class woman in the Victorian era and there's no opportunity, no choice. There's no going out and having a career. Everything was simply marriage and babies. Washing, cleaning, cooking and rats. It was a horrendous life and she always felt that it was a life that wasn't right. She always wanted more than that."

Joanne adds: "She can't accept her lot but goes about seeking a better life in ways none of us would choose. I was fascinated by the psychology behind it." Which is one of the reasons why Dark Angel should make particularly chilling Halloween viewing.

Joanne Froggatt stars in Dark Angel, Monday, ITV, 9pm

BEST OF THE REST

MONDAY

Saving Africa's Elephants: Hugh and the Ivory War, BBC1, 9pm

Part two of two. Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall asks if lessons can be learned from efforts to tackle the trade in rhino horn, asking if legalising the sale of it and ivory could be the solution. He travels to South Africa to meet John Hume, who argues vociferously that owners should be able to harvest and sell rhino horn to generate the necessary funds to protect them and tries to convince Hugh regulated legal trade in elephant ivory and rhino horn is the only thing that will save these species.

TUESDAY

Pride of Britain Awards 2016, ITV, 8pm

Carol Vorderman hosts the annual awards show from London's Grosvenor House, where Prince Charles joins some of the biggest names in TV, showbusiness, politics and sport, including Theresa May, Dame Maggie Smith, Eddie Redmayne, Simon Cowell, Ant and Dec and Peter Kay, paying tribute to this year's deserving winners. These include a nine-year-old girl who has battled through more than 500 operations for burns and is now raising £50,000 for charity.

Ordinary Lies, BBC1, 9pm

Warehouse manager Toke, aka crime-fighting superhero the Rain Town Knight, tends to a homeless girl called Chrissy after she is attacked by a group of women. He takes her to hospital to get treated and reveals his protective side when he provides her with food, shelter and even a job. Unbeknown to his colleagues or girlfriend, Toke gets wrapped up in Chrissy's life – bit by bit and is soon tested on how far he is willing to go to help her.

WEDNESDAY

Him, ITV, 9pm
Therapist Ross Brodie finds his whole scientific belief system called into question after he witnesses the truth about his young patient's formidable powers. Meanwhile, Azfal remains unconscious in intensive care following the accident, and while Faith joins his family in praying for his recovery, his tormented teenage friend tries to find a way to use his unusual abilities to help him. However, the troubled young man soon comes to a painful and irrevocable conclusion about how he can protect his loved ones. Supernatural thriller, starring Fionn Whitehead. Last in the series.

THURSDAY, Buble at the BBC, BBC1, 8pm

The BBC has always had strong links with the music world, although (Glastonbury aside) most of its in-depth television coverage tends to be assigned to BBC4. Last year, BBC One broke the mould by staging Adele at the BBC, in which the singer performed some of her greatest hits, while Graham Norton presented and interviewed the star. Happily, almost a year later, Michael Buble now receives a similar treatment, with Claudia Winkleman as host. Buble will be backed by his touring band as well as a 30-strong orchestra, as he runs through some of his best-loved songs from a career which spans over 20 years.

Buble at the BBC, Thursday, BBC1, 8pm

The Apprentice, BBC1, 9pm

The candidates continue to fight for Alan Sugar's financial backing, although this week they are tasked with securing investment for someone else. Each team must help an entrepreneur launch their new cycling product and get the public to invest through crowdfunding. It's down to half of each team to embrace the world of guerrilla marketing, creating a head-turning PR stunt, while the rest concentrate on a campaign video. However, as the funding websites go live, technical failures and spelling mistakes cause problems.

FRIDAY, The Level, ITV, 9pm

Nancy's personal and professional lives collide when she sees a connection between her mother and the missing truck, as the full extent of Frank's monstrous crimes becomes clear, and she is forced to operate outside the law to prove her case against Nash. Hayley is let down by her ex-husband, leading Quinn to offer some much-needed comfort that provides food for thought, while Cherie doesn't seem to want to face the truth when Hayley asks her some probing questions. Karla Crome, Laura Haddock and Noel Clarke star. Last in the series.

Meat your match – the charcuterie sharing platter

Seeing red – red velvet cheesecake

Country pub – the Shoal Hill Tavern in Cannock

Pigging out – the pork stack

With full bellies and a happy wallet, what's not to like here?

THE Shoal Hill Tavern is somewhat of a landmark to those living around the Cannock area.

So, after having driven past what must have been more than 100 times, we decided to give it a shot.

And we weren't disappointed. We visited the eatery early evening on a Bank Holiday Monday and, as the sun shone across the pub's green garden, families and friends sat drinking on the benches.

Though it is always a pleasure to see a pub full we did fear the number of people outside may mean the place was heaving inside too. Luckily for us, it wasn't too busy at all and we were quickly seated.

One thing to mention is the superb booking system. No-one likes having to call and book tables when you're off out or in a hurry – and Shoal Hill Tavern has the perfect solution: online booking. It's all really easy and can be done in a matter of seconds by mobile phone, via an operator called Open Table Inc. Anyway, back to the pub.

As we walked into the venue, we were greeted by a bright, lively atmosphere with rustic wooden furniture and floors. The Shoal Hill Tavern at Cannock has a few great offers during the week. The one we had come for was their weekly two mains for £20, which takes place every Monday. We had arrived at 5pm, and ordered the food, before I double checked we were entitled to the offer – only to be told it didn't start until 6pm as it was a Bank Holiday.

A little communication here from the staff would have avoided the confusion.

Similarly, I only discovered the pub had a specials board after we had ordered our food and eaten our starters. . . The staff could make diners aware of any extra food that is available. Complaints now aside, I can discuss my favourite topic – the food. And we were impressed.

My other half and I selected the Charcuterie sharer; a wooden platter boasting rows of delicious cured, cooked meats, criss-crossed tiny gherkins and a small, glass pot of garlic infused olives.

Huge

A wonderful, plentiful selection of flavours and textures – and at just £9.95 a reasonably-priced starter for two. Now, on to the mains. My partner opted for the home roasted ham with egg and chips from the lunchtime menu. Other than the lack of greens, his plate was stuffed with food – a huge amount given that it cost just £6.55.

For my meal I selected an item from the evening menu: The Pork Belly Stack. Now I'm a huge fan of pork belly and this really wasn't the best I've ever tried. It was a little dry and there didn't appear to be a great deal of it. This should have put me off my dinner, but the remainder of the dish meant it was entirely irresistible.

Beneath the pork was a creamy sweet potato and normal potato mash, which covered another layer of pork; which, this time, was juicy and tasty. Under that was a layer of deep green, curly kale – and the whole meal swam in a mouth-wateringly thick, creamy sauce.

I couldn't resist a dessert and opted for the raspberry and white chocolate cheesecake. Though the base of the cheesecake was not as crunchy as I would have liked the cheesy bit was creamy and smooth.

Seeing as the bill was just £44.50 – we left with our bellies full and our wallets happy.

Sit back and relax with tasty Mokka

VAUXHALL MOKKA

Garrick Hamill

Vauxhall's Mokka has done good business for the Griffin brand in its growing compact Crossover segment. Over half a million examples of this Korean-built contender have found homes across Europe since its original launch in 2013.

But time moves on and so has the competition. This car faces a much stronger challenge now than it did at its original launch.

Hence the introduction of the revised Mokka X model range we're going to look at here.

The changes aren't too far reaching. There's a smarter front end, plus inside, an upgraded cabin that features Vauxhall's clever 'OnStar' connectivity system. Under the bonnet, the car gets the brand's latest, more efficient, 1.6-litre CDTi 'whisper diesel' engines, plus a pokier 1.4-litre petrol unit. A Vauxhall then, that is in every way a car of its time, very much chiming with the new face of a changing brand.

Mokka X buyers are people likely to be enthusiasts for life rather than for cars. So they may not care that this car isn't quite as sharp and wieldy as a rival Nissan Juke, nor does it have the 'big SUV' polish of a comparable Skoda Yeti. Instead, there's a potentially pleasing compromise between the two.

Under the bonnet, there are three main engine options, the most affordable, as ever, being the least desirable of the trio, the 2WD-only 115PS petrol 1.6-litre variant which, with only 155Nm of torque, needs to be rowed

Mokka X buyers are likely to be enthusiasts for life rather than cars. They may not care that it isn't quite as sharp and wieldy as a rival along a little with the gear lever – a stick that only offers you five speeds. A better bet for petrol people is the 140PS 1.4-litre turbo, now also available with 152PS if you go for a top-spec AWD model with auto transmission.

The most practical engine choice though is the one most buyers will probably select, the 1.6-litre CDTi diesel, now offered with either 110 or 136PS. The pokier version is capable of a top speed of around 117mph and rest to sixty in around 10.3s.

You get all the main mechanical choices with this unit – so you can specify your car with 6-speed manual or automatic transmission and with or without 4WD. Perhaps more importantly, you get a lot more pulling power – 320Nm in all.

Every Mokka X is theoretically capable of towing a braked trailer of up to 1200kg in weight, but this diesel variant is the only one that'll really take such a task in its stride.

So, this Mokka X is a small, trendily-styled five-door little SUV/Crossover isn't it? Well yes. So it'll be priced directly against the other car we tend to think of in this market sector, Nissan's Juke, won't it? Well, no. Vauxhall points out – correctly – that their car is a significantly larger thing – hence the price span for the range that lies in the £17,500 to £27,000 bracket. To put that into perspective for you, that means you'll be probably be paying a price premium of around £3,000 for this Mokka X over an equivalent Juke. You'll need around £20,000 for the least expensive AWD Mokka X model.

As well as the extra space, you get more kit than you would on that Nissan. There's a choice of four trim levels, 'Active', 'Design Nav', 'Elite' and 'Elite Nav'.

Standard equipment on the mid-range 'Design Nav' models most will choose is impressive and includes 18" alloy wheels on most models, plus LED daytime running lights, front fog lights and silver roof rails on the outside.

Inside the cabin, drivers will benefit from an 8-inch touch screen with Vauxhall's IntelliLink Infotainment system, as well as the innovative OnStar personal connectivity and service assistant.

'Elite Nav' is the top-of-the-range trim and adds a full leather interior, heated front seats and steering wheel, plus tinted rear windows.

Not too long ago, it was hard to think of a more conventional brand than Vauxhall. But that was then. Here's how the company is thinking now: looks a lot more appealing doesn't it? True, this Mokka X still isn't the most dynamic car of its kind: Nor is it as affordable as some might expect – but that's only an issue if your comparison is with something smaller, much less well equipped and probably more feebly powered.

With styling and size almost perfectly pitched, it's practical, well equipped, affordable to run and, in 4x4 form, seasonally capable too. A car with an appeal that builds as your interest in it grows.

The kind of car Vauxhall needs to make for a more fashionable future.

Bigger, better than ever and talented

By James Parker

On the face of it, the concept of a Sport Utility Vehicle is a bit farcical. Which sport are you engaging in at the helm of, say, a Land Rover Discovery Sport? If the remit is to get you to the sport, then surely a bus or train would also warrant the sports tag. There really is nothing sporty about these vehicles.

Audi popularised this genre with its Allroad models, Volvo followed with its XC70 but Subaru had them both licked in selling us all-wheel drive estates with just enough off-road ability to get most of us to where we needed to go. Skoda followed suit with its Octavia Scout models but they never really gained much traction with the car buying public. The third generation Octavia is a far more substantial proposition than its predecessors and this time, the Scout version might well snag some serious orders.

The basics are pretty straightforward. For this sort of car, you really want an estate bodysell, a bit of extra ride height, a brawny diesel engine and the obligatory all-wheel drive mechanicals. Skoda duly delivers, with the engine choice extending to either a 2.0 TDI 150PS with a six-speed manual gearbox or a 2.0 TDI 184PS featuring a six-speed DSG twin-clutch as standard.

The fifth-generation Haldex clutch transmission more accurately distributes torque between the front and rear axles. The ECU monitors your driving (steering angle, throttle position and how heavily you're braking) and delivers what it feels is the correct split of torque to each axle. As soon as a front wheel starts spinning, the clutch is engaged, sending torque to the rear tyres. An electronically locking differential on both axles

Even the entry-level Scout gets alloy wheels

There's a redesigned rear end with black body cladding helps too, drive being distributed evenly from side to side for optimum grip.

The Scout certainly looks the part, with a distinctive front end that features a silver skid plate and fog lights assembly. There's also a redesigned rear end, with black body cladding added to help keep scuffs off the paintwork while off-roading.

The ride height has been jacked up by a further 33mm, and with a total ride height of 171mm, the Scout has even more ground clearance than many so-called SUVs such as the Audi Q3.

Rear seat space is generous and so is the amount of room in the back with the 610-litres of space you get in the boot when all the seats are in place. Prices start at just over £25,000, which nets you the 150PS version. You'll need to fork out around £28,000 for the 184PS model with the DSG gearbox, but that's still quite ridiculously good value for money. After all, you can spend well over £27,000 on a manual 1.6-litre diesel Honda Civic supermini.

Ask yourself which is offering you more car and more capability for your money. The Scout's more direct rivals can't really touch this proposition, the base 140PS Passat Alltrack knocking on the door of £30,000 while the Vauxhall Insignia Country Tourer really only comes into contention if you can negotiate a massive discount off the asking price to offset its poorer residuals.

Even the entry-level Scout gets alloy wheels, an eight speaker stereo with a digital radio and Bluetooth compatibility, roof rails, leather trim for the reach and rake adjustable steering wheel, climate control and a touchscreen infotainment controller. Safety gear includes stability control, hill hold, automatic post collision braking, plus front, side, knee and curtain airbags.

Ascend up the range and you can start fitting features like the DSG twin-clutch gearbox, Alcantara and leather trim, satellite navigation, cruise control, intelligent light assistant, bigger alloys and a remote rear seat fold down facility.

Mitsubishi ASX new 'dynamic shield' i.d.

MITSUBISHI ASX REVISED FOR 2017

The upper grille connects with the headlamps

By James Parker

Mitsubishi's revised ASX, sports another interpretation of Mitsubishi Motors Corporation's (MMC) new "Dynamic Shield" visual identity.

With over 1,100,000 units produced since its launch in 2010, ASX has proved to be a global success for Mitsubishi Motors Corporation (MMC), as well as a timely development against the ever growing crowd of C-Segment SUV market.

In Europe, it is the second global market with 237,564 units sold since launch, where it remains Mitsubishi Motors' number two seller behind Outlander.

Building on this solid foundation, Mitsubishi Motors continues to improve on this success with steady freshening to keep up with market trends and customers' demand as well as the Brand's own evolution.

Visual Identity

For a smooth transition towards the next generation of Mitsubishi Motors vehicles, the 2017 ASX boasts Mitsubishi's "Dynamic Shield" – MMC's new visual identity.

Previewed with the 2014 Outlander PHEV Concept-S show car, Dynamic Shield is meant to symbolise the functionality and reassuring safety inherent to Mitsubishi Motors' SUVs, with bold chromed streaks on either side of the grille shielding the Three-Diamond mark to create a 3D suggestion of motion.

In the case of ASX, the front bumper was altered to accommodate the chrome streaks while the central section was blacked-out to mimic New Outlander or eX-Concept. Above, the upper grille is now made of thin black horizontal slats and connects with the headlamps for an integrated look.

This new front face pays respect to both MMC's past and "Form follows Function" philosophy.

It is inherited from the bumper side protection seen historically with Shogun, providing a unique feeling of protection for the people and the car itself.

In that sense, this new front face design expresses design heritage and evolution from that heritage. In addition to this new front face, the European specifications 2017 ASX will also feature a shark fin antenna, a more supportive rear seat padding as well as a new seat material.

These cosmetic changes come on top of the most recent improvements brought to ASX for Europe, such as:

- New 1.6 Turbo Diesel 114 ps engine (w/ Auto Stop & Go, 6 M/T, either 2WD or 4WD)
- Extended service intervals
- New features including 18" alloy wheels, auto-dimming rear view mirror

The new front face pays respect to both MMC's past and 'Form follows Function' philosophy

New ASX will feature a shark fin antenna

London Wolves members celebrate the 50th anniversary with ex-players Mike Bailey and Terry Wharton on Saturday

Die-hard fans' capital commitment

SPORT MEMORIES

By Rob Cox

EVEN for a group that's 50 years old, this lot have got some outlandish tales.

One of their members has missed only one home game in 40 years, they used to run out of the players' tunnel at Molineux to supporters chanting their name, and they've travelled to matches with players, millionaires and a famous pop star.

Welcome to London Wolves.

The club's oldest supporters' club – and one of the oldest of its kind in the country – is turning 50.

They've experienced dizzying highs and endured devastating lows over the past five decades – and that's before you even get started on the football.

It all began in a very different era. Stuart Earl, who was there was from day one and is the club's chairman, takes up the story: "Me and Dave (Slape, current secretary) met on the 9.15 out of Paddington. We saw each other every week and just thought there had to be a cheaper way of doing it, so we set about organising coach travel and it took off from there."

Switch

Dave added: "I was on the first trip. Two weeks earlier we met Jack Howley, the secretary, with about 12 people saying we wanted to form a club. The first trip was Plymouth (October 22, 1966, a 2-1 home win)."

Football worked very differently back then. London Wolves would be let in to Molineux games for free, with chairman John Ireland believing fans who travelled that far shouldn't have to pay.

They would board a coach from Victoria station, but would switch to train travel after a couple of years, and have a corner of the North Bank allocated to them. Stuart added: "We used to come out of the players' tunnel and the North Bank would chant 'London Wolves' and point at us! It was quite embarrassing."

Club legend Steve Bull receives a Player of the Year award from London Wolves back in 1986

The club's numbers soon grew. At its peak, in the late 1970s and early 1980s, they had almost 400 members, with the 1981 FA Cup semi-final against Spurs at Hillsborough attracted a record booking of 108 fans. Just a few years later, with Wolves' rapid decline in full flow, things were very different.

Travel secretary Peter Woodfield has been with the club since its formation and still kept attending event in the dark days of the 1980s.

Yes, he even went to all three Chorley FA Cup games. The Magpies beat Wolves 3-0 in a second FA Cup first round replay at Bolton's Burnden Park. "In the Bhatti era you had to be a bit more dedicated!" he said.

"The Third Division, when we were still on our way down, it was a real effort to go to those games."

Mark Feehan joined in 1976, aged 12, after spotting an advert in a Millwall programme.

"You hear people complain today about bad games, but you really had to be a die-hard in the 1980s," he said. "You didn't even know if they would put a team out some days. We had the conversations about what we'd do if the worst happened and Wolves no longer existed." But London Wolves, like the club, survived – and thrived. Sir Jack Hayward used to travel with them for midweek games (even taking part in Dave's 'guess the score' competition), as did a host of former players.

Dexys Midnight Runners singer Kevin Rowland is a former member, as is BBC presenter Jacqui Oatley.

John Richards is the club's honorary president and the likes of Carl Ikeme, David Ed-

"We used to come out of the players' tunnel and the North Bank would chant 'London Wolves' and point at us! It was quite embarrassing."

wards and Karl Henry have travelled back to London with them in recent years.

That's not to say that travelling from London to every game hasn't been without its pitfalls.

There have been several mishaps, delays and breakdowns over the years, even as recently as last season when horrendous motorway traffic forced the group, who travelled to that particular game by coach, to abandon in Sheffield and watch a match in a pub.

Outskirts

Peter, who sorts out the club's bookings and match tickets, added: "There was one at Huddersfield in the 1960s the coach broke down just on the outskirts of Huddersfield and we ended up pushing it up a hill!"

"I'll never forget that. We missed the first 25 minutes of that one," he added.

The 50th anniversary year was marked in style with a golden anniversary dinner at Charlton's ground, The Valley, in July, attended by a host of ex-players and then-boss Kenny Jackett.

A special reception will be held in Molineux's WV1 bar on the day of the Leeds game on Saturday, marking 50 years to the day since that first ever trip.

"I think the reason we all enjoy it so much is the social side of it and the camaraderie," Mark said. "We have a lot of away fans travelling with us too. Brentford brought a bag of Chinese fortune cookies with them the other week to share out. Everyone knows everyone and we're all friends."

Stuart added: "My mother thought I'd grow out of it, but 50 years later I'm still here."

Fireworks on agenda as boxing back

PROFESSIONAL boxing returns to The Venue in Dudley on Friday, November 4 with fireworks expected on the evening before Bonfire Night.

A seven-bout card will welcome the fighters back to the High Street building with a bang.

Netherton's Les Byfield has home advantage on the PJ Promotions show bill. The 29-year-old is looking for his sixth win in his seventh fight.

Returning to the ring is Tipton's Ricky Summers, who will be back in action after exactly seven months out of the ring. His last bout came under the lights at The Venue, outpointing gatekeeper Carl Wild in a coming-of-age fight to claim a British Challenge title.

The light heavyweight, 29, retains a flawless record of 11 straight victories, with four inside-the-distance and could soon be knocking on the door for national honours again.

Redditch's Andrew Robinson will be looking to get back to winning ways, after a narrow defeat to Sam Sheedy in a British middleweight title eliminator.

Four other prospects also feature on the bill including Rowley Regis' Tyler Denny. The left-handed middleweight, 25, has somehow recorded two draws in a row against Simone Lucas and Christian Hoskin-Gomez, but remains unbeaten after five outings.

There's a PJ Promotions bow for Telford's Tony Jones, 25, who boxes in the Black Country for the first time in his seventh pro affair. Another new face to PJ Promotions' events is busy welterweight CJ Challenger, from Leicester.

Completing the line-up is Bartley Green's Kane Baker, who competes in his second pro bout at super lightweight.

Tickets, at £35 and £50 ringside, are available from promoter Paul 'PJ' Rowson on 07976 283 157.

Glassboys pay the penalty as chance is saved at death

Blyth Spartans 2 Stourbridge 1
STOURBRIDGE were denied an Evo-Stik Premier point when a penalty from Luke Benbow was saved – the last action of the match.

Nathan Buddle gave Blyth the lead just before the half-hour-mark when he leapt to meet Stephen Turnbull's corner and put his header past Matt Gould in the Stourbridge goal.

The hosts increased their lead when Robbie Dale unleashed what looked a speculative strike at goal which Gould left, believing it was going for wide, only for it to fly in.

On 52 minutes Stourbridge got a goal back through Benbow who picked the ball up on the left and unleashed a shot from 20 yards which flew across a diving McHugh and into the top corner.

Four minutes into injury time Blyth substitute Michael Richardson handled in the area but McHugh blocked Benbow's shot with his legs.

Stourbridge slipped out of the Birmingham Senior Cup on Monday night. Stratford grabbed the only goal on 60 minutes through Will Grocutt.

Hales cut down to size by leaders

Sheffield 31 Old Halesonians 15

THIS was a typical game of two halves as Hales travelled to south Yorkshire to meet the league leaders.

Hales drew first blood as scrum half Chris Danks fed Ian Briggs to centre Ben Barkley who made ground to feed Chris Hooper. He kicked intelligently for the corner and straight into the hands of winger Luke Smith who stepped inside to score an unconverted try.

A converted try put the hosts in front. But again Hales responded. Hughes won the line out ball and strong driving by wing forward Adam

Rugby

Clayton, Loz Breese and Rich Taylor forced the home side to infringe. Hooper converted.

Hales had a 10 minute period of pressure and dominance but could not convert into points until centre Carl Robinson collected the ball from a ruck and sprinted through the gap for a try, converted by Hooper for a 15-7 half-time lead.

The second half was not to be the same. Hales captain Steve Leach became the third player to leave the field injured and Sheffield took the initiative with constant pressure. Hales tackling was not consistent and the hosts scored a converted try and were back in the game.

On 50 minutes, the right winger outpaced the Hales defence for an unopposed converted try.

Injuries and indiscipline did not help the Hales cause. Yellow cards for Clayton and Breese reduced the side to 13 for a while. Sheffield took advantage with a penalty.

Hales had lost their way with some inept tackling and lack of the control and the hosts' scrum half ran through for a converted try to seal the game on 73 minutes.

The second team went down 20-17 to Lichfield and the thirds beat Veyseyans seconds 43-19.

SAM THE MAN CLAIMS BOUT

SAM Eggington claimed the bragging rights over Frankie Gavin – but the giant-killing came from Craig Cunningham over Anthony Ogogo.

In the big grudge match over 12 rounds at Birmingham's Barclaycard Arena, only Stourbridge's Eggington, 23, could win the WBC International welterweight title, regardless of the result.

Come the eighth, Eggington managed to get a big uppercut through the guard, with Gavin slumping to the mat. Loughlin began his count and, seeing the fallen fighter too hurt to continue, waved him off.

Medical attention was called for and, after a brief period of treatment, Gavin regained his senses and congratulated his nemesis. There was just 18 seconds of the round left.

Meanwhile, Cunningham claimed a stunning upset for the WBC International crown at middleweight with the scalp of Ogogo, Olympic bronze medalist and undefeated professional.

Behind

Again, it came in the eighth, where Ogogo was retired by his corner complaining of blurred vision. He was also behind on the cards, though.

Halesowen's Lennox Clarke followed the top of the bill in the Saturday night show staged by Eddie Hearn's Matchroom Boxing. His six-rounder with Adam Jones was dropped to four, with Clarke taking the bout on points.

Don Broadhurst claim the English super flyweight crown in an entertaining tussle with Louis Norman, while Sean Davis claimed the WBC International belt at super bantam, outpointing late call-up Paul Economides.

British super flyweight champion Kal Yafai featured in an eight-rounder, seeing off Tellez Johnson with 12 seconds of round three left.

Andy Keates successfully defended the Midlands light welterweight title on points against Jordan Cooke. Robbie Barrett claimed the English lightweight strap, going the distance with Marcus French. Brian Rose shut out Stiliyan Kostov, Cori Gibbs whitewashed Michael Mooney and Joe Sherriff used four rounds to remove Tzvetozar Iliev. Ryan Kelly defeated Tommy Cart-erand Sam Bowen removed Reynaldo Mora.

Snooker scene hit by death of veteran

THE local snooker scene is in mourning following the sudden death of Ken Garlick, aged 78.

He died on October 11 and the funeral service was taking place yesterday (Wednesday) at Gornal Crematorium.

Mr Garlick played for a number of teams including King-swinford Conservative Club, Kingswinford Snooker Centre and Stourbridge Institute.

He was still a very active member at the Institute, and will be sadly missed – but much remembered with great fondness.

Although a very useful player, Mr Garlick will also be remembered for his considerable coaching skills which were of benefit to many local players, particularly at Dudley Snooker Club over 30 years ago, and for his help and guidance to other aspiring and established coaches.

He worked for many years in the Midlands steel industry after moving to the area from his native Yorkshire.

Blizzard is blazing trail by the coast

ATHLETES from Dudley Kingswinford Running Club had their first opportunity to run around a muddy field at the weekend with the first fixture of the cross country season, the Midlands Cross Country Relays at Wolverhampton.

With clubs travelling from all over the Midlands area to compete, the blue hoops were rubbing shoulders with the local heavyweights of Coventry Godiva, Tipton Harriers, Notts AC, Rugby & Northants and the hosts, Wolverhampton & Bilston.

With each club fielding teams of four runners with each runner completing a 6k leg of 2 x 3k laps around fields there were plenty of ups and downs and twists. But those looking for mud were disappointed as the course was bone dry. Stuart Perkins got the event under way on the first leg running 24.03 to place the hoops in 24th of the 69 clubs competing in the Senior Men's race. Simon Hughes ran the second leg in 25.50 with the club dropping to 27th at the changeover. Rob Sannwald was off third and clocked 25.32 with the club losing a place in 28th and Dave Norman, fresh from a marathon six days earlier, moved the club up to a finishing position of 26th in 25.55.

Darran Bishop got the Masters team on the board with a 25.32 first leg in 11th out of 24 over 40s teams, Andy Morrison ran 31.33 to place the club 17th, Richard Jones dropped a place to 18th with a 29.27 third leg and John Andrews moved the club up to a final finishing position of 15th with a 31.00 last leg.

Simon Blizzard decided to avoid the mud with a trip to the seaside taking part in the Great South Run, a 10 miles race from Portsmouth, along the coast and back to a sea front finish. He clocked a time of 1.05.52 to place a very respectable 306th position.

Anderson's magic moment seals win

Halesowen Town 1 Warrington Town 0
YELTZ bounced back to winning ways with a moment of magic from leading striker Kaiman Anderson in a hard-fought victory.

The kick-off was delayed due to M6 traffic troubles and when play finally began Warrington's Anderson grabbed the solitary winning goal for the Yeltz in the 34th minute with a spectacular overhead kick into the top corner after Kennedy Digie headed the ball back across goal.

Halesowen's defence held firm as Warrington upped the pressure in the final stages.

CLEARANCE EVENT

Exciting new developments, plus significant investment and restructuring mean that Cousins Furniture need to clear millions of pounds worth of stock from their warehouses and showrooms with immediate effect.

For 3 Days, this Friday, Saturday & Sunday

Cousins have been closed all week, because staff have been working around the clock handling vast quantities of incoming stock from their suppliers & warehouses, including the leading brands. Consignments will continue to arrive daily and all the price tickets have been reduced to a fraction of the normal price for this Massive Clearance Event.

POSITIVE TRENDS MIXED WITH UNCERTAINTY.

A combination of the continuing increase in big ticket furniture sales, together with the drop in sterling's currency valuation plus some unprecedented business opportunities have all led to the need for this dramatic clear out of stock.

It's been well documented that High street sales have experienced a definite upturn. Cousins are no exception, with furniture sales flourishing as the economy comes out of recession. Increased buoyancy in the housing market, property refurbishments and extensions have all contributed, along with a general feel good factor. Consumers are definitely returning to household projects and plans that may have been put on hold during years of uncertainty.

"Our customers are investing in both quality and brand assurance. People are becoming more adventurous in the styles that they're purchasing" said John Shotton, Managing Director.

However, this is now mixed with uncertainty, as the UK's June Brexit Referendum has led to a dramatic devaluing of the pound against foreign currencies, which will potentially result in significant price increases on the High Street, with furniture being no exception.

MASSIVE OPPORTUNITIES.

With this in mind and in an attempt to beat this inevitable price rise, Cousins have bulk purchased enormous volumes of stock and negotiated fantastic short term discounts from many of their brand leading suppliers to offer the buying public a phenomenal opportunity to purchase quality furniture at unbelievable discounted prices and beat any potential price increase. This applies to both stock and special orders.

FANTASTIC STOCK DEALS.

Furthermore as a member of the prestigious "Associated Independent Stores" Buying Group, Cousins have used their combined purchasing power to obtain some fantastic stock deals on accessories, homewares and carpets. In-store concession Hammonds will also be joining in the Extravaganza.

A NEW OPPORTUNITY.

In September, Cousins proudly introduced new flagship "Lounge Company" galleries into their Manchester and Birmingham stores, part of an exciting and exclusive partnership with market leading brand Parker Knoll. This exciting new venture showcases the very best in contemporary sofa styles and enables a customer to experience and configure their preferences, either instore or online, utilising the most up to date fabrics and leathers.

CONTINUED SUCCESS AND EXPANSION.

Cousins have also further expanded their unique "Bespoke Upholstery" departments, which enable consumers to solve any seating dilemma they may have. Whether its design, dimensions, comfort levels or fabric covering a customer can design a sofa, chair or corner group to exactly match their needs. This is a service that isn't generally available on the High Street and certainly meets a significant demand.

WAREHOUSE RESTRUCTURING.

Both online and offline, Cousins' will be enhancing the shopping experience. The recent completion of an in-house photography studio will vastly improve the quality and variety of their website imagery. It also necessitates the need to clear part of the main warehouse along with the associated stock, to accommodate the facility, putting even greater urgency on the success of the Clearance Event.

STOCK ARRIVING DAILY - EVERYTHING MUST GO.

This tremendous need to clear stock from suppliers, their warehouses plus in-store mean that consignments will continue to arrive daily, and be marked down to prices for immediate Clearance and delivery due to the enormous pressure for space. "We need to clear this stock as soon as possible with everything available for immediate delivery. It really is a case of everything must go" said John Shotton. "We are delighted to offer our customers more choice than ever before. These are some of the biggest savings we have ever offered and expect people to take full advantage"

MADE TO ORDER.

Cousins have even dramatically reduced all made to order items, so you can choose exactly what size or colours suits your home. Their expert team of sales people will be on hand to ensure you make the right decision at the best price. "We are expecting this to be our busiest event of the year from the minute the doors open. With many one-off bargains and unrepeatable deals it really will be a case of first come first served" said John Shotton, Managing Director.
